A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Beauty and the Beast Jr. holds a very special place in my heart. It was the first show I directed that was open to 2nd grade and up. I was only a little baby second year teacher at the time, and it was the second musical I had ever directed. If you would have told me in 2016 that this drama club was going to explode the way it has, I would never have believed it. We have nearly doubled our cast size from the first time we performed it! It's such a great feeling to compare the two shows and see how far we have come. Thank you for your unending support of our productions.

SYNOPSIS

Once upon a time in a faraway land, an Enchantress turns a cruel, unfeeling Prince into a hideous Beast. To break the spell, the Beast must learn to love another and earn her love in return before the last petal falls from an enchanted rose.

Years later, in a small village far below the Beast's castle, a beautiful and intelligent young woman, Belle, yearns for adventure. Her father Maurice gets lost in the forest and seeks shelter in the Beast's castle. Enchanted servants - Cogsworth, Lumiere, Babette, Mrs. Potts and Chip - try to make Maurice comfortable, but the Beast imprisons the intruder.

Meanwhile, Gaston, the village brute, proposes to Belle, to the dismay of Les Filles De La Ville, who fawn over him. Belle turns Gaston down. When Belle notices Gaston's sidekick, LeFou, wearing her father's scarf, Belle runs off to search for him, finding him imprisoned at the castle. She offers herself in exchange for his freedom. The Beast agrees, sending Maurice back to the village and imprisoning Belle in return. Seeing their guest forlorn, Mrs. Potts and the castle servants try to make her comfortable.

In the village tavern, Lefou and the Villagers try to lift Gaston's spirits when "crazy old" Maurice barges in claiming that he has seen a Beast. Gaston and Lefou form a plan to win Belle's affections.

Back in the castle, the servants coach the Beast on how to act like a gentleman. When Belle refuses to accept the Beast's invitation to dinner, he loses his temper and tells her to starve. However, Lumiere and the servants offer Belle an extravagant feast anyway. After dinner, Cogsworth gives Belle a tour of the castle but she wanders off into the forbidden west wing and discovers the enchanted rose. The Beast is furious, which causes the frightened Belle to flee the castle.

In the forest, Belle is attacked by wolves. The Beast comes to her rescue, but is injured in the process. Seeing his distress, Belle helps the Beast back to the castle and attends to his wounds. The servants are filled with hope when the Beast and Belle begin to show affection toward each other.

Despite this new friendship, Belle longs to see her father. Using the Beast's magic mirror, Belle sees that Maurice is in trouble, so the Beast sends her home to care for him. She discovers Gaston has arranged for Monsieur D'Arque to take him away, so she proves that her father is not crazy by showing the Beast in the magic mirror. Jealous of Belle's affection for someone else, Gaston whips the villagers into a frenzy and they storm the castle to kill the Beast. Gaston confronts and stabs the Beast in the west wing. The Beast, while still much stronger than Gaston, refuses to kill him and Gaston runs away in shame. Belle arrives and tells the dying beast she loves him, which breaks the spell. The Beast transforms back into the Prince, the servants become human again, and they all live happily ever after.
